NEW POPE ASKS WORLD PEACE

First Photo of Pius XII in Pontifical Robes

Pope Pius XII Today—Doors of the Sistine Chapel are thrown open and Pope Pius XII, garbed in vestments of office, emerges with Cardinals and other high dignitaries of the Catholic Church in Rome. This photo was made at the Vatican today, telephoned to London and radioed to the United States.

Pope Gives Blessing to Boston

Blessing the people of Boston and the entire United States was the first official act of Pope Pius XII.

When Cardinal O'Connell as ranking cardinal-priest approached the new Pontiff in the ceremony of homage immediately after the election, His Holiness spoke of Boston and its people, his happy memories of both. Pressing his hands to his heart, then flinging them outward in a gesture of benediction, he said:

"With all my heart I bless them, and will always pray for them. They were all so kind to me when I visited there."

PONTIFF'S FIRST PLEA FOR PEACE

VATICAN CITY, March 3 (AP)—Pope Pius XII opened his pontificate today with a strong plea for peace broadcast to the entire Christian world. Speaking from the Sistine Chapel in Latin, His Holiness called for peace with justice and understanding.

So sudden and unexpected was the Pontiff's decision to address the world less than 24 hours after his election yesterday that even Vatican authorities were not prepared for it, but an Italian summary was broadcast by government radio.

Following is the English translation of the Pope's address:

"As most profound emotion fills our spirit and we feel ourself as though overwhelmed before the tremendous responsibilities to which Divine Providence in Its inscrutable designs has called us, we feel it necessary to make known our thoughts immediately to all. Thus these paternal words.

BLESSING FOR ALL

"First of all, with particular affection, we give our paternal embrace to the very beloved Cardinals of the Sacred College whose piety, virtue and eminent gifts of mind we know by long association; then we salute with special benevolence our venerable brothers of the episcopate; at the same time we bless the priests and nuns, those who work to spread the Kingdom of Christ through missions or who collaborate with the apostolic hierarchy under the guidance of bishops in the field of Catholic Action and, finally, all our sons throughout the world, especially those who suffer poverty and pain.

"May very special graces of Heaven descend copiously on each and every one of these.

"But in this solemn moment our thoughts run also to all those who are outside the church, to these who will be pleased to know that the Pope raises for them to the highest and greatest God prayers and wishes for every good.

APPEAL FOR PEACE

"To this paternal message we wish to add hope and an appeal for peace.

"We mean that peace which our predecessor of pious memory recommended to men with so much insistence and invoked with such ardent prayers and for which he offered his life to God; that peace, sublime gift of Heaven, which is desired by all honest souls and which is the fruit of charity and justice.

"We invite everybody to peace of conscience, tranquil in the friendship of God; to peace of families, united and harmonized by holy love of Christ and, finally, to peace among nations through mutual, brotherly assistance, friendly collaboration and cordial understandings for the superior interests of the great human family under the watch-

Pope Pius XII Hailed As 'Living Saint' by Cardinal O'Connell

ROME, March 3—Speaking with deep feeling and flaming enthusiasm, William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston today predicted a "glorious pontificate" for Pope Pius XII. He said the new Pontiff might truly be called a living saint.

Clad in the brilliant scarlet robes he was shortly to wear at the third ceremony of homage to the Pope, he said:

"The Holy Father is a beautiful and magnificent character. He is a man of vast intelligence and wide and universal experience.

"He is very humble, with the humility of the Master, but he is also very clever.

"He possesses great force, is capable of great restraint.

"Thanks to the high office he has held as papal secretary of state he has the talents of the diplomat, but can be as blunt as he needs to be upon occasion.

"That is something of great importance in these troublesome times, when a man with a keen mind and an understanding heart is so sorely needed in the councils of the rulers.

"I am overjoyed at his election. He is the right man in the right place, for his long experience with two of the greatest Popes who ever lived, Benedict XV and Pius XI, has qualified him most fully for a position of world-wide importance, not only from a spiritual and religious point of view, but also politically.

Pacelli Alone Voted Against Self for Pope

VATICAN CITY, March 3 (INS)—Except for the fact he did not vote for himself, the election of Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli as pope was unanimous, the official Vatican news service disclosed today.

Three ballots were cast. On the first, Pacelli received 35 votes. On the second, he was accorded 40.

The third and final ballot gave Pacelli 61 votes. His own ballot, it was learned, was cast for Gennaro Cardinal Granito-Pignatelli di Belmonte, 82-year-old dean of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

Charges Desertion, Wins Decree

Lonely Honeymoon Wins Dancer Decree

Charging desertion on her Boston honeymoon, platinum blond Virginia Reed Gryder, a night club dancer, won an uncontested divorce today in Suffolk probate court.

Strikingly beautiful, with a black costume setting off her fair coloring, young Mrs. Gryder told Judge William M. Prest a story of heartbreak and disillusion.

She was wooed and won in San Francisco, she testified. There she married William G. Gryder, September 7, 1935.

"Blissfully happy," the bride came with her husband to Boston, where they took a suite in a Boylston street hotel, she testified.

She said her husband "walked out" on her there and never returned.

Learning he was in Memphis, Tenn., she wrote him twice.

She received no reply.

Doctors Let Child Die, Says Mother

A mother's insistence that her child died through mistakes and indifference on the part of four Everett physicians has led to an investigation which will reach a climax tonight at a secret hearing in Everett City Hall, it was learned today.

"My little girl would be alive today if she had been given the right medical attention," Mrs. Alba Pierotti Danton, Avon street, Everett, charged.

"The girl was examined by four doctors in 12 hours."

"We did everything humanly possible," countered one doctor.

The girl eight-year-old Alba Denton, died 10 days ago at Whidden Hospital as the Boston Evening American was rushing an oxygen tent to her side.

Tonight her mother plans to tell city officials why she feels her daughter was sacrificed to carelessness and errors.

DORCHESTER GIRL IS 'PEG MALEON'-- AND SHE'S IRISH!

Girls! . . . Girls! . . .

Hundreds, thousands of girls. Tall girls and short girls. Plump and slim. Blondes, brunettes and red-heads. Behind counters. In street cars. Parades of girls. Armies of girls. Marching, marching . . .

And somewhere among them was one—only one—who was to become a duchess for a week, "Miss Peg Maleon" in Boston's greatest search for beauty and brains . . . One girl . . .

TOBIN IN-LAW WAITS STORK HERE AFTER AIR RACE NORTH

WINS RACE WITH STORK—Arriving at East Boston airport, Mrs. James G. Tobin is placed on stretcher to be hurried to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for expected blessed event. She was flown here from Florida, where she was vacationing.

Boston Evening American Photos

Winning a dramatic air race with the stork, Mrs. James G. Tobin, sister-in-law of Mayor Tobin, arrived at East Boston airport today in a special sleeper plane from Jacksonville, Fla.

She was immediately transferred on a stretcher to an ambulance and taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton.

A few hours later she was reported asleep and resting comfortably at the Cardinal O'Connell House, where her baby is expected to be born.

Her husband, the mayor's brother, and City Censor John J. Spencer, her brother, accompanied her on her trip. Hospital officials said they did not expect the birth "for some time."

Mrs. Tobin was on vacation in Florida. For several days she has been in a Miami hospital but she decided to return home. The air trip was arranged, although she had never flown before.

The plane left Jacksonville at 2:15 p. m., yesterday, and was delayed at least six hours in reaching Boston by a snowstorm.

Mayor Tobin had been expected to return to Boston with her, but went by train instead to New York to attend a conference of United States mayors. He will be back in Boston on Monday.

'BET BRIDAL' WIFE DENIED ANNULMENT

Vainly seeking an annulment of her "Gretna Green" marriage at Seabrook, N. H., last March, a young and pretty Dorchester wife testified today she was a "bride in name only" and her husband staged the elopement and wedding "on a bet."

Judge John V. Mahoney, after hearing the evidence, ruled the marriage must stand.

The plaintiff wife, Mrs. Charlotte Sacks Goldenburg of Browning avenue, Dorchester, testified:

"I went through the marriage in good faith.

"Melvin Goldenburg told me he wanted me to be his wife right away and he had influence so he could obtain a waiver of the five-day law.

"I thought he loved me. So I consented.

"We drove up to Seabrook, N. H., and were married there the same day.

"When we got back to Dorchester, my husband took me to my parents' home. I said 'Aren't you coming up?'

"He said:

"'Oh, no. This isn't going to be a real marriage. I just went through the ceremony on a bet, to prove to some friends of mine it could be done.'"

Young Mrs. Goldenburg testified her husband never did live with her as a husband.

WEST END WOMAN BEATEN TO DEATH

Victim of an atrocious murder, according to police, Miss Nellie Harrington, 58-year-old welfare recipient, was found dead today on the floor of her three-room apartment in Brighton street, West End.

She was unclad, except for an overshoe on one foot, and she had been brutally beaten on the face and head.

After a preliminary investigation, police took into custody, for questioning, a 58-year-old man who has a room in the four-story building. Bloodstains were found in his room, police said.

EMPTY PRSE NEAR

The body, when found, was in the front room of the apartment, on its back, with an old bathrobe under the battered head, and a pillow nearby.

The right eye was blackened and the face bruised, the lips were puffed and distorted and one ear, police said, was "practically cauliflowered."

In the center of the three rooms, near a couch where the woman generally slept, was found her pocketbook, open and empty except for a welfare envelope, which also was empty.

When word of the discovery was flashed to police headquarters, Police Superintendent Edward W. Fallon and Deputy Superintendent Benjamin F. Wall hastened to the scene with other officers.

POLICE HOLD LABORER

These included Captain John F. McCarthy and Sergeant Joseph Fallon of the homicide squad; Frank Stratton, department chemist; Sergeant Edward J. Seiboldt, police ballistician, and a police stenographer.

After questioning occupants of the house and a number of neighbors, the investigators took a male lodger, a railroad laborer, into custody.

Because bloodstains had been discovered in his room, on the same floor as the murder apartment, police began a further search in belief he might have burned or otherwise disposed of bloody clothing, although he denied any connection with the slaying.

FIX MURDER HOUR

The man said that at about 11 o'clock last night he heard loud talking, but thought nothing of it at the time.

Police and Medical Examiner William J. Brickley set the time of Miss Harringtons' death at about 11 p. m.

She had lived in the four-story building in the top floor apartment, for about 10 years and was believed to have two sisters in Fall River.

The laborer has lived in the building only seven months.

1st Lady Writes Parents of Hub 'Trailer Baby'

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Blake, parents of Boston first "trailer baby," today received a letter from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the President's wife, congratulating them.

Mrs. Roosevelt thanked the Blakes for their "kind thought" in naming the baby girl for her.

Their trailer home still parked in the rear of a gasoline station off Washington street, Roslindale, Mr. and Mrs. Blake said they would frame Mrs. Roosevelt's letter and hang it over the baby's crib.

The Blake baby was born in the trailer February 6. The parents named her Anna Eleanor Roosevelt Blake.

Two other children, Mary Lou, eight, and Charlotte, six, also occupy the trailer. They go to school in Roslindale.

"We may move to a Quincy apartment for a while," the mother said today.

The letter reads:

"My dear Mr. Blake: I congratulate you and Mrs. Blake upon the birth of your daughter and I appreciate your kind thought in naming her for me. I wish the little girl a long and happy life. Very sincerely yours, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt."

Cold Blast Due Over Week-End

Zero weather in the vicinity of the Great Lakes was moving Bostonward today, promising New England week-end shivvers to make up for recent over-allowances of spring-like sunshine.

Light rain or snow tomorrow and snow Sunday, were officially forecast.

Officer Aids Stork; Mother, Baby O.K.

Surprising himself as much as anyone, Patrolman John McFarlane of Dudley street station proved himself a very fine obstetrician today—winning even the compliments of a City Hospital ambulance doctor.

McFarlane and Patrolman John Thoms thought it was just routine when a call came to the station and they were sent with the wagon to a house in Eustis street, Roxbury, "to take a woman to the hospital."

They found, however, an excited husband who told them his wife was about to become a mother.

"We will rush her right to the hospital," said Patrolman McFarlane confidently.

But Mrs. Mary Hines, 27, told them wanly it was too late. Patrolman McFarlane, who has one youngster in his own home, gulped, but he is prepared for duty according to the best police tenets.

"Call City Hospital and tell them police want an ambulance here quick," he instructed the husband.

"John, get hot water," he told his partner.

Before the ambulance came, Patrolman McFarlane had delivered, bathed and warmly wrapped a five and a half pound boy for Mr. and Mrs. Hines.

The ambulance doctor grinned a broad grin after he had checked the case.

"Couldn't have done it better myself—DOCTOR McFarlane," he said.

Then they bundled up mother and son and took them to the hospital.

Ex-Norwood Police Sergeant Dies

Walter A. Readel, 66, retired Norwood police sergeant and special custodian of Dedham court during the Sacco-Vanzetti and Millen-Faber trials, died sudenly today at his home on Park street, Norwood.

He had twice served as acting chief of the department and joined the force in 1907. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Ida Readel, and a son, Edward.

VICTIMS OF GAS—After being overcome by gas in their Braintree home, these four children, Nancy, 13, Madeline, 11, Anthony, 6, Victor, 9, and their mother, Mrs. Nunzio Damiano, 34, recuperate from effects.

Court Presentation For Four Americans

LONDON, March 3 (INS)—Madame De Oliveira, wife of the Brazilian ambassador to London, will present four American ladies to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth at the first royal court of the season on March 9, the United States embassy announced today.

The announcement said Madame De Oliveira would make the presentations in the absence of Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, wife of the American ambassador, who is touring the Near East.

American ladies who will be presented are:

MRS. VINTON CHAPIN, wife of the second secretary of the American embassy in London.

MRS. SAMUEL A. GREENWELL, wife of Major Greenwell, assistant military attache.

MISS BARBARA MEAD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Mead of Old Greenwich, Ct.

MISS ALFREDA HUNTINGTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Constant D. Huntington of Boston, Mass.

The American embassy announcement said:

"The ambassador will be accompanied by members of his staff and their ladies."

"Boston" Girl in London Never Saw Homeland

Alfreda Huntington was described by a Beacon Hill aunt, today, as a charming, attractive 18-year-old, but—she has never seen her homeland.

Alfreda, her aunt, Miss Catherine Huntington of Pokney street, explained, was born in London and has been educated in London and Paris schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Constant D. Huntington, parents of the girl, have been residents of London for the past 20 years. Mr. Huntington is the head of an English publishing company.

The Huntington family is prominent in Boston, New York and Philadelphia society.

Teacher Held As Fugitive

Kenneth C. R. White, 52, author and former teacher at Harvard, Radcliffe and Wellesley, was arraigned in Dedham district court today on a fugitive from justice warrant issued in Tamworth, N. H.

He was arrested at his home in Windsor road, Wellesley Hills.

Police said he is wanted on a charge of uttering a fraudulent check for $84.60 at Chocorua Inn, Tamworth, N. H., August 1, 1938. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $300 bail by Judge James.

Police said White told them he has taught at the three Greater Boston colleges and at Western Reserve. During the past year he has been busy writing a book, he said.

Seek More Bodies In Halifax Ruins

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, March 3 (Canadian Press)—Firemen today probed ice-coated ruins of the Queen Hotel to determine the exact loss of life in the fire which trapped sleeping guests as it swept the hotel and destroyed two adjoining structures.

Police said more than 20 persons were missing and expressed fear others had lost their lives in the blaze.

Dr. F. V. Woodbury, city medical examiner, said three additional bodies have been removed from the ruins, making a total of seven recovered to date.

He appealed for dentists to aid him in identifying the victims by means of their dental work.

In hospitals were 20 injured, including two firemen. The hotel register, only exact record of the hotel's guests, was buried in a safe under tons of debris.

Working with city police, J. A. Rudland, Nova Scotia fire marshal, began an inquiry into the cause of the blaze, which caused damage estimated at $800,000. Hotel employes have been questioned but their statements were not disclosed.

Heaviest loss of life was believed to have occurred in the hotel's north section, which collapsed after four men were seen attempting to escape across the roof.

6 DEAD—HUNT 25—Blackened ruins and empty walls are all that remain of the Queen Hotel, Halifax, N. S., after fire ravaged the 100-year-old structure. Fireman and police today sought 25 missing, after known death toll reached six.

Gale Halts Aid To 132 on Ship

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, March 3 (Canadian Press)—A gale whipping heavy seas today foiled efforts to rescue 132 men aboard the leaking 67-year-old sealing ship Ranger 12 miles off the southeast coast of Newfoundland, radio reports said.

The steamships Newfoundland and Imogene were standing by, but battering waves prevented them from getting a line aboard the Ranger to tow her to Cape St. Mary's on Placentia Bay.

The Ranger's radio was silent, leading to belief her batteries had given out, but positions given by the rescue vessels indicated the Ranger had drifted across the mouth of Placentia Bay since her first call for help.

The Newfoundland was reported to have taken aboard 18 of the 150-man crew.

Auto Checking Bill Saved for Debate

The proposed bill requiring garage owners to keep a record of all repairs made to automobiles today stood assured of further discussion in the House.

On the motion of Representative DeRoy, of Holyoke, the bill was substituted for an adverse committee report. DeRoy said such a statute would aid in nabbing hit-run drivers.

Lawrence Fireman Injured in Blaze

LAWRENCE, March 3—One fireman was injured and estimated damage of $7000 was done here in a general alarm fire in a three-story building at Merrimack and Carber sts., in the heart of the manufacturing district.

The fireman, William J. Landus of Ladder 5, suffered lacerations by flying glass.

AFL-CIO RIOTS END; 20 HURT

WESTWOOD, Cal., March 3 (INS)—Every available peace officer hurried to Westwood today as fears of further rioting arose after the powder keg of AFL-CIO rivalry exploded for the second time in nine months and sent 2000 unionists into pitched battles which ended early today in the streets of this little company-owned lumber town.

For nearly 24 hours cursing, slugging, reeling lumbermen locked in sporadic combats ranging from two-man fist fights to battles royal with hundreds participating.

At their sides, like modern Amazons, stood their screaming womenfolk. When the battling subsided, 20 persons had been injured and two arrested.

Climax of the rioting came late yesterday when 500 AFL men drove a flying wedge at the flimsy wooden CIO headquarters, a few minutes after deputy sheriffs had rescued 25 men, women and children who had taken refuge in the structure.

The AFL men pushed the 16-by-24-foot building into the middle of the street, where the crowd reduced it to matchwood.

CIO Picketing AFL Store Men

Clerks belonging to a CIO union picketed North End and Cambridge stores of a Boston market chain today, as warring CIO and AFL groups threatened a general business tieup.

Leaders of the factions aired grievances before the State Labor Relations Board.

Harry T. Tubin, New England director of the United Retail and Wholesale Employes of America, a CIO affiliate, charged employers with unfair practices.

John Donovan, spokesman for the Retail Clerks' Protective Association, an AFL union, told the board the union and the market owners had a satisfactory one-year contract, not yet expired.

He protested against CIO "interference."

Hitler Slain, Double Carries on, Claim

NEW YORK, March 3 (INS)—A sensational anonymous book, published by the Macauley Company, today set forth the claim that Chancellor Hitler was murdered by an insidious poison on the eve of his historic Munich conference last year, and that a "double" has been impersonating the Nazi fuehrer ever since.

The volume is called "The Strange Death of Adolf Hitler."

It describes in fantastic detail the alleged death of Hitler by a poisoned omelet administered by a party enemy the night before the Peace of Munich was signed, Sept. 29, 1938.

The book purports to contain verbatim conversations and plots concocted by Hitler and his two chief government confreres, Field Marshal Hermann Goering and Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels, in their effort to remain all-powerful in Germany.

BOOK IS UNSIGNED

The book is unsigned. But the publishers state in a foreword that it is a translation of a manuscript smuggled out of Germany and written by one "Maximilian Bauer," a soldier of fortune, whose astonishing resemblance to Hitler in appearance, voice and mannerisms gained him admittance to innermost Nazi circles from the very day of fuehrer's accession to the chancellory.

The writer vividly describes the Nazi blood purge, the burning of the Reichstag and the various phases of Jewish persecution.

Finally, with an unsparingly critical pen, he tells of the "Death of Hitler" after eating a meal poisoned with a Peruvian drug.

There were many minutes of panic among those present, the writer declares. Then, Goebbels, Goering and the others agreed to announce the death of Der Fuehrer's bodyguard and to have the bodyguard or double impersonate Hitler thereafter.

THRILLING INCIDENTS

The book has many thrilling and highly interesting incidents, including several involving adventures between the Hitler "double" and women, whom, it seems, he cannot resist despite his excellent impersonation of Der Fuehrer. Hitler, himself, is supposed to have been without interest in the other sex.

One incident describes the writer's discovery as a Hitler "double" (the book says the reichsfuehrer had four) by the chancellor's dentist, who instantly notices that his patient's tooth geography is not that of the Nazi chieftain. In this case the writer indicates that a concentration camp was the dentist's fate.

In the concluding chapters of the volume the "double" is again exposed, this time by the French ambassador. The latter discovers in a private conversation that the man he believed to be Hitler, who knew neither French nor English, was suddenly able to converse in both.

The publishers, according to the foreword of the book, made every effort to check the facts included in the manuscript. Certain dates and locations do not check with newspaper records of Hitler's movements, they stated, adding:

"This may have been intentional obfuscation by the use of doubles. A few instances appear to be slightly out of order, but these never affect the framework of the whole."

Publication of the book follows various rumors circulating recently to the effect that Hitler had four "doubles."

SELECTMAN STARTS JAIL TERM

BROCKTON, March 3—Despite pleas for leiency, Arthur H. Gadd, 53, chairman of the Hanson Board of Selectmen, today was to begin serving concurrent terms totaling 15 months in the House of Correction.

The sentences for forgery and perjury were imposed by Judge F. Williams in Superior court.

"This is a tragic thing," said the court. "I would have found the same as the jury. I believe he did this to cover up larceny charges of a year ago on which he was found not guilty.

"I don't think this case warrants a State Prison sentence, but I do believe he should get the House of Correction as he violated the trust of the people of the town placed in him.

HOSPITAL HEAD HITS CHARGES

Admitting the possibility of a "doctor's error," Dr. Norbert A. Wilhelm, superintendent of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, denied vehemently today that indifference by it and the barring of a fatally injured child from emergency treatment at the hospital.

With City Councillor William A. Carey of Roxbury demanding a rigid investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Charles Metlusker, five, after he had been crushed beneath an ice truck, Dr. Wilhelm said:

It is possible that the doctor (who) refused the child (sent to the Children's Hospital) could have erred in his judgment, but that is a mistake we all make. However, I do not say that he did err.

"If, in our opinion, the boy was seriously injured, he positively would not be turned away. It was the doctor's judgment that the boy be transferred to a hospital better equipped to treat child cases."

CAREY'S DEMAND

In a statement issued to the press here by Councilor Carey, he said:

"I was much surprised to learn from the report of Medical Examiner Cornelius Leary that among other injuries, little Charles Metlusker sustained a broken neck.

"It is difficult to understand how an interne presumed to possess qualifications justifying his presence in the emergency ward should have failed so completely in diagnosing the boy's injuries and should have persisted his removal to the Children's Hospital.

"From my conversation with you and Dr. Cutler at the hospital this morning, I well appreciate your desire to protect the good name of the Peter Bent Brigham hospital. With this in mind, I feel it my duty to suggest a thorough investigation on the part of your governing board into the circumstances incident to the treatment accorded the child."

"TREAT ALL CASES"

Carey also urged that all emergency cases be given "first aid" here at the hospital in full or in part of the absence of injury or cost of the victim. It had been expected that the hospital had a long established policy of not treating out-of-town except in emergency cases, instead of being transferred to the Children's Hospital here.

Mr. Metlusker in the Fisher st. Roxbury home of the little victim his grief-stricken mother declared:

"The least they could have done for my baby was to have sent him over to the Children's Hospital in an ambulance, and not in that old oil truck . . . my poor boy."

NOVELIST'S STORY OF POPE'S GREAT DAY

By HUGH WALPOLE
(World Famous Novelist)
World copyright, 1939 by International News Service

VATICAN CITY, March 3—I have seen the people elect a new Pope.

There must have been few elections in the past when an sudden and powerful an urge on the part of 300,000 men and women, gathered in St. Peter's square, proclaimed who the Pope was to be, some time before any human being knew it.

One of the last laymen to stand at the side of Cardinal Pacelli before the Vatican doors closed on the conclave which elected him Pope, Hugh Walpole, the famous British novelist, today describes the influence of a "popular urge" on the cardinals' choice.

I have seen some great events in my time, the declaration of war, the outbreak of the Russian revolution, the coronation of an Emperor, a royal funeral. This event, I am sure, will be longer and will, over all these, remain.

Exactly at 5:30, a little puff of something came from the chimney [illegible] for a minute.

I stared [illegible] to the sky. [illegible] I saw it.

Close beside me and pressing in on me was a group of American priests very young and very excitement. One of them suddenly in a voice high and [illegible] with excitement cried:

"There is a new Pope!"

Then [illegible] broke. Then an odd thing that I can never forget was that instantly [illegible] Pacelli was in the mouth of every one.

The young American [illegible] saying to each other:

"Oh, I hope it's Pacelli! Don't you hope it's Pacelli?"

'Working Wife' Hits Back at Hecklers

A bill aimed sardonically at those who would banish "working wives" from the public service was on file with the clerk of the House of Representatives today.

It was presented by Mrs. Leslie B. Cutler, Republican representative, and would compel all married men "whose wives are able to support them" to resign from government service.

"What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," she declared.

The ironic bill was introduced at the close of a stormy hearing before the legislative committee on education, heavy arguments on the proposal to ban married women from all public service, especially from teaching jobs.

1000 AT HEARING

The hearing was in Gardner Auditorium as well more than 1000 excited women filling aisles, was one of the most tumultuous in history.

AGITATORS SCORED

"Bolshevist and Fascist agitators in Paris and London," the newspaper Nachtausgabe said, "are trying almost fanatically to determine the political course of the new Pope in accordance with their own political aims.

"It is up to the Vatican to shake off that rabble-serious politicians of other countries, especially the western democracies, who are already banking on predictions, should be reminded of a few exceptions.

"Previous Popes have not followed the paths that over-ambitious followers wanted to prescribe for them. The course which Pius XII will choose to follow will become evident from his deeds alone."

FRENCH CLAIMS BLASTED

The Boersen Zeitung replied French press claims [illegible] Pius XII will oppose totalitarianism.

"Such remarks may amaze the Vatican and result in prayers to the Almighty to protect the Pontiff from his over-offensive French friends. We assume that the world, which after all is larger than Paris, looks upon the Pope and his regime from a more objective viewpoint."

Blow to Il Duce, Says Soviet Press

MOSCOW, March 3 (INS)—Communist [illegible] election of Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli as Pope, the official Soviet newspaper Izvestia today openly branded the cardinal's choice as a blow to totalitarian states.

"Pope Pius XII is known for his attitude in opposition to totalitarian states, Germany and Italy. The election is considered a blow to Premier Mussolini," the paper said.

New Pope's Boston Cousins Rejoice

Through the Christian world, millions of faithful greeted with great reverence the news of Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli's elevation to the supreme honor and exacting cares of the Papacy.

fulness and protection of divine providence.

"In these troublesome and difficult hours while so many difficulties seem to impede attainment of that peace which is the most particular inspiration of hearts, we raise to the Lord a special prayer for all those who are entrusted with the high honor and the grave burden of guiding peoples on the road to prosperity and progress.

FACES IMMENSE EVILS

Here then, O beloved Cardinals, here venerable brothers, here beloved sons, is the first wish which rises from the paternal heart which God has inspired in our heart. Before us we have the spectacle of immense evils which scourge the world and for which blessed God sends us no succor, unarmed but believed.

"You sons, you brothers, would not desire—we are fully confident of it—to render our hope vain. After the grace of God it is on your good will that our soul depends so much.

"May the Lord Christ, of Whose fullness we all have received, deign to make fruitful this hope of ours and extend it as messenger of holy consolation to the entire earth and may the benediction which we impart in His name give virtue to it."

The new Pope earlier set the course of his reign in which many expect a new constructive role in world foreign affairs to be played.

The Pontiff opened the Vatican doors of Christ to what many believe was the most important conclave of the elections.

The entire energy of cardinals was devoted to what has proved to be a short session.

Cardinal Pacelli, for four Vatican secretaries of state gathered in the Sistine Chapel at 11 a. m. (5 a. m. Boston time) to know the Pope's pleasure and to receive his guidance and to hear a final message.

The March 12 coronation ceremonies for the first native Roman Pontiff in 250 years may be held earlier than the usual interval of a week.

Pius XII will be the first Pope elected since the Lateran Treaty established diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the Italian government 10 years ago. He will be free if he chooses to receive the oath of fealty from the Roman state to take formal possession of papal properties outside the Vatican walls.

"NO WEAKNESS"

Toward Nazi Germany's treatment of Catholics one Vatican informant said:

His Holiness was expected to show "no weakness but an attitude of watchful waiting for betterment of conditions."

In dealing with that situation since he once was papal nuncio to Berlin, negotiated the concordat of 1929 with Germany and signed that of 1933 with Nazi Germany, the 63 year-old Pontiff was regarded as particularly qualified from personal observations and experience.

The Holy Father retired most night to the cell which had been his apartment during the years he was close servant of Pius XI.

TROUBLED DAYS

The 262nd Pontiff spiritual ruler of 352 million Catholics got a pushed diplomat faced to help the most troubled days since the World War and greatest papal responsibility that he was called to early years considered below the average age of Catholics.

Then and there he vowed to devote his every good breath.

The new Pontiff faces specific difficulties in many parts of the world.

The own Church has passed a drastic education Racial laws particularly those affecting mixed marriages which Pius XI had signed the concordat also were in the Fascist books. Except to many Fascists and Catholic Action was a fresh memory.

However, there were cordial messages to Pius XII from King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini congratulating him on his election.

The Fascist press gave him a friendly reception.

MESSAGE FROM POPE—Proudest pupil in Girls high school annex today is Angela Sibella, 16, of Dorchester . . . holding a message sent to her by Cardinal Pacelli, now Pope Pius XII. She wrote to the Vatican when Pope Pius XI was stricken . . . and the message, dated exactly a year before the election of the cardinal, was the answer.

SEES PIUS AIDING WAR ON NAZIS

WASHINGTON March 3 (INS)—Governmental officials today viewed the election of Pope Pius XII as the harbinger of a new era of cooperation between the Vatican and the Roosevelt administration in the world struggle against Fascism and Nazism.

In the new Pontiff's election, the President might find a powerful ally in the fight against the totalitarian conception of an all dominant state to which Mr. Roosevelt has dedicated himself.

Pius XII, first Pope who had ever set foot on American soil, and first ever to have conferred with a President of the United States, following his 1936 trans-continental American air tour, had expressed whole-hearted admiration for this country and its people. It was revealed. He spoke here at the National Press Club.

Hub Girl Has Card Sent Her By New Pope

Marie Hall, two years old, when she was 13 months old [illegible] Vatican Secretary of State, [illegible] was shocked and pleased to learn of the illness of Pope Pius XI.

[illegible]

Today she was happy to read a letter from [illegible]

"Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state to His Holiness, begs to express the heartfelt gratitude of the Holy Father for the filial good wishes and for the loving assurances of prayers sent him in his illness and to convey, in a pledge of plenteous and abiding grace, his paternal Apostolic Blessing."

D. A. R. Will Let First Lady Quit

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 3 (AP)—Mrs. John S. Beaume of Springfield, recording secretary general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, said today if Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had resigned, the D.A.R.'s national board of management would accept the resignation at its April 1 meeting.

Reports were that Mrs. Roosevelt had withdrawn because the DAR refused use of its Constitution Hall to Miss Marian Anderson, negro singer.

Newton Children Hail Pope as Own

Newton school children are taking an almost proprietary interest in Pope Pius XII today, and have since even before he was the choice of [illegible] of Cardinals.

When [illegible] the United States as [illegible] Pacelli in the fall of [illegible] guest house at the new Catholic Theological Faculty of the Archdiocese of Boston, [illegible] Sportsman pictured [illegible] of the new Pope may not have been aware of the fact, one of his youngest supporters, because of praying as the new Pope was John Murray, who was then a boy [illegible] Church of the Sacred Heart in Newton Center.

A LASTING THRILL

A few weeks later, they would [illegible] Pope, even though [illegible] know then that the [illegible] a lasting thrill [illegible] the Pope.

[illegible] the tablet was presented [illegible] Cardinal Pacelli, [illegible] Secretary of State [illegible] Pius XI, [illegible] the tablet was [illegible] Cardinal Pacelli the day [illegible] Pope Pius XII.

"My days in the Sacred Heart Parish, Newton Center, will always remain among the dearest recollections of my visit to the United States of America.

"Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state to His Holiness, Pope Pius XI—October 13, 14, 15, 1936."

The sentiment on the tablet was just expressed from the altar by Cardinal Pacelli the day he celebrated mass at the Newton church.

EMBOSSED CANDLE

Next to the tablet is a glass case in which stands an embossed candle nearly six feet in height, the gift to Bishop Spellman of the late Pope Benedict XV.

The [illegible] printed in Latin [illegible] the gift and white vestments show that they were first worn by Cardinal Pacelli when he was consecrated Archbishop of Sardis by Pope Benedict XV and later when he was created cardinal [illegible] Pius XI presented the [illegible] to Archbishop Spellman when [illegible] consecrated bishop.

The new Pope is [illegible] with Bishop [illegible] the clergy and [illegible] Newton Center.

On the last day of his stay he was entertained at dinner at Bishop Spellman's home in Whitman, where he met the young bishop's father and the [illegible] sister, Mrs. Agnes S. Brennan.

On the table in the living room [illegible] graph of Cardinal Pacelli [illegible] inscription:

"To Most Francis J. Spellman, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston, as an affectionate souvenir of his sincere friend.

NEW POPE IS AIR MINDED; MAY BE 'FLYING PONTIFF'

VATICAN CITY, March 3 (AP)—A cultured, studious man of 63—who as a boy liked to slip away from his playmates to worship in the parish church—is the new Holy Father of the Catholic Church.

Eugenio Pacelli, new Pius XII, was born of a Roman noble family in Rome and declared acquaintances say he showed a yearning for the priesthood at an early age.

Previously he was an active lay Catholic worker, founding and organizing the study of religious lectures. Even before he was ordained he was regularly to baptize, marry and comfort the sick.

Entering the office of the papal secretary of state after the ordination in 1901, he rose rapidly under Pius XI to become Vatican secretary of state on February 7, 1930—a seasoned diplomat, who had traveled through Europe, visited North and South America, acquired fluency in many languages, and adjusted himself easily to the rapidly changing world of the 20's, even to use of the airplane.

BLESSED NAZI ACCORD

As nuncio to republican Germany he negotiated the concordat of 1925 as Vatican secretary he signed the 1933 accord with the Nazi government.

Many at the Vatican today believed it not impossible that he might continue to travel by air, thus becoming the first Flying Pontiff. During his visit to the United States in October and November, 1936, he flew across the country and visited 12 of the 16 American ecclesiastical provinces.

Associates speak of him as a hard worker, accustomed as secretary of state to rise at 6 a. m. After early mass he worked until 1:30 p. m., when he usually ate a frugal lunch.

Two of his nephews, Marc Antonio and Giulio, were noble guards attached to cardinals in the conclave city, although they were not in Sistine Chapel where the papal election occurred.

Carlo Pacelli, their brother, was in St. Peter's square with his wife when the election was made known, and they knelt with the rest of the Roman crowd to receive their uncle's benediction.

The three nephews of the Pontiff are sons of his late brother, Francesco, who acted as Vatican attorney in the negotiations with Premier Mussolini that gave rise to for the Lateran[illegible] city of 1929.

Carlo said the Pope "expressed to them news of his election pretty after it occurred.

He always has demonstrated great affection for them, the nephews related, and has taken an especial interest in Mare Antonio's two children, Orsola and Francesca, the latter only a few days old.

An Italian reporter who went to the Pacelli home in one of Rome's smaller but elegant palaces described an emotional scene among members of the family gathered there after the election.

The reporter said Carlo alternately wanted to talk and to get off by himself and pray. Carlo is a general councillor in the Vatican state government.

The Pontiff's immediate family includes a fourth nephew, Arsalde Mengarini, who is married to a daughter of Prince Ghigi Albani marshal of the papal conclave.

Pius XII also has a married sister, Elisabetta, four years his junior.

New Pontiff Had 'Cell 13'

VATICAN CITY, March 3 (AP)—[illegible] cardinal [illegible] elected to the throne of St. Peter's as the successor [illegible] to the papal [illegible] Pius XII, [illegible] Pacelli, [illegible] was assigned to [illegible] Cell 13 [illegible] Pius XI, [illegible] spend the first night of his own reign there.

Hub Cardinal Calls Pope 'Living Saint'

...ally will follow the apostleship of peace inaugurated by his two immediate predecessors, thus earning the gratitude of the whole world.

"In the prophecies of the Irish saint, Malachy, he is called 'Pastor Angelicus,' the angelic shepherd of peace.

"Shortly after I, in the quality of dean of the order of priests, together with Cardinal Caccia-Dominione, dean of the order of deacons, had addressed the ritual question as to whether he accepted the dignity conferred upon him, he promised at my request to extend a special blessing upon the people of the United States, both Catholic and non-Catholic, remembering with evident satisfaction the cordial reception which President Roosevelt gave him."

Cardinal O'Connell added that he looked for a considerate comparison to that of Pope Leo XIII.

Leo is generally regarded by Catholics and non-Catholics alike as the founder of the liberal and humanitarian movement in the modern church.

When news reached Rome that Pope Pius XII was elected a friend of peace an unbelievable pandemonium of acclamations and compliments

NEW U. S. CARDINAL?

VATICAN CITY, March 3 (AP) One of the first duties of Pope Pius XII will be to appoint a successor to New York's late Patrick Cardinal Hayes.

[illegible] the naming of his first consistory to fill some of the [illegible] in the College of Cardinals, it was reported here. Hayes died [illegible] Pius can be elected Pope.

Vatican sources consider Monsignor Joseph Dougherty, auxiliary Bishop of New York, a likely candidate for the post.

Other mentioned are Monsignor Edward Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit; Monsignor Francis J. Spellman, ex-Papal Archbishop of Baltimore, and Monsignor John J. McNicholas, Archbishop of Cincinnati.

Pope Kindly, B. C. Recalls

Boston College boys still in school and others recently graduated have an especially warm spot in their hearts for the new Pope, who visited the college two years ago then as Cardinal Pacelli.

After addressing them from the library steps, many excellent Latin [illegible] invited to the Very Rev. Denis Gallagher, S. J., then college president, and said:

"I'm going to suggest to Father Gallagher that he give you two days off. I'm sure you'd appreciate it."

Interest—For the first time in the history of the City Hospital children's ward, the youngsters there were shown a talking movie by the Boston Frairs Club. Did they like it? Judge for yourself. Top, Alice Colbert of South Boston is all eyes and ears. Center, boy patient is in another world. Bottom, Madeline Keough of Roxbury smiles—at camera or movie?

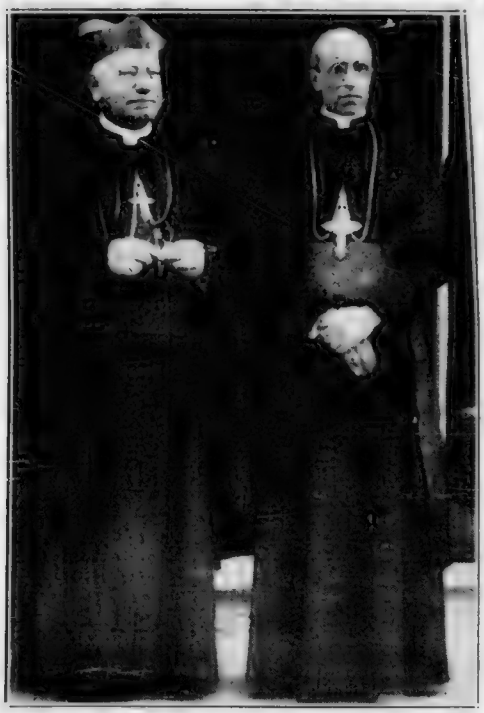
KINSMAN OF POPE

Sketch—Boston Artist Silvio N. Vitale, 28, son of Italian Vice-Consul, shows a sketch he made of the then Cardinal Pacelli, now Pope Pius XII. Vitale's wife, now in Rome, is a niece of the new Pontiff.

Symbolic—Enshrined among candles in the place of honor at the residence of Bishop Donahue of New York is this splendid portrait of the new Pope, made when he was a cardinal. It was presented to the late Patrick Cardinal Hayes. The gold cross above symbolizes the religious solemnity of the gift.

250,000 AT VATICAN AS NEW POPE IS NAMED

Multitude Hails Pontiff—Focused between two Vatican dignitaries, this striking photograph shows the multitude, estimated at 250,000, which jammed the square in front of the Vatican to await news of a new Pope. Shortly after this photo was made, Pope Pius XII appeared.



Friends—When Pope Pius XII came to this country on a visit one of the prelates he was most anxious to see was William Cardinal O'Connell of the Boston archdiocese. Here the pair are shown together during the former Cardinal Pacelli's stay in Boston. He was received here with great pomp.

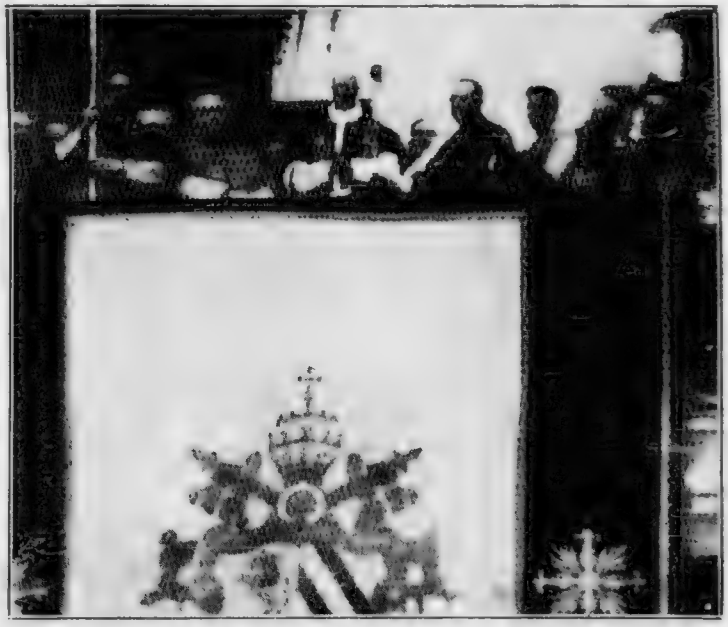
FIRST WORDS TO THRONGS



First Blessing—In the colorful raiment of his supreme office, Pope Pius XII appeared on balcony of St. Peter's and bestowed his first papal benediction. This photo was radioed to America.

The Life of Christ

CHAPTER SIX

Christ, radiant with the Spirit of the Holy Ghost, leaves the River Jordan after His baptism.

By COLLIN CLINE

WHEN JESUS was about thirty years of age He left Galilee and came to the River Jordan where John, the son of Elizabeth and Zacharias was baptizing the multitudes and saying: "One mightier than I cometh, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose."

Now John had never met Jesus, for the moment he saw Him coming toward him he said:

I have need to be baptized of Thee, and comest Thou to me?

And Jesus answering said: Suffer it to be so now. For thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness.

He knew that the coming of the Messiah was near and that He who was to be called a Jew must be circumcised.

He knew also that John had received from God the right to baptize all persons who wished to repent from sin and prepared for the Kingdom of Heaven.

And He wished to receive the sanction of God on His authority, God's and man's.

The Bible tells us that when He was baptized Jesus went up straightway out of the water, and the heavens were opened and the spirit of God, descending like a dove, lighted upon Him.

And a voice from Heaven said: "This is My Beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased."

Today's picture shows Christ coming from the Jordan after His baptism. It was painted by William Hole, distinguished European artist. Though there are many famous paintings of this scene few are in the reverent simplicity of this one.

Tomorrow, an important chapter in the life of Christ will be told, and the masterpiece of a famous Italian genius of the present day will illustrate it.

OUR LEGISLATORS should think twice before they accept any of the various proposals being made to provide Civil Service protection for State Police.

Because this important organization is semi-military in character and purpose, it must be regarded more as an army of soldiers than as an ordinary group of public servants.

Here, as in an army, promotions must necessarily be for limited periods to permit the continuing of young, strong and physically fit men. Discipline and promotion for distinguished service must be based as on a battlefield.

And emphasis must always be on VIGOR and ENTHUSIASM, rather than on the complacency that comes with the knowledge one has a life job.

For years friends of the Massachusetts State Police have visioned a public protection agency similar to J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, two famous organizations not governed by Civil Service.

In many ways the dream has been realized.

The question now is: Do we want to abandon the State Police system as we now know it and, in its place, substitute something new in pattern and theory?

Human Side of News -:- by EDWIN C. HILL

SUNDAY, February 26, was the anniversary of the birth of the last of the great scouts, Colonel William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill."

It was a state holiday out in Wyoming and was widely celebrated throughout the West. And in New York, at the American Museum of Natural History, groups of Westerners, many of whom had been friends of the great scout, anticipated the anniversary with a chuck-wagon dinner with Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, famed sculptress, who modeled a magnificent statue of Colonel Cody as a gift of honor.

When we think of Buffalo Bill, the story and picture of the Old West comes back in all its vivid glory.

To glance back is like gazing at a mighty panorama. The Overland Trail and the Oregon Trail. A great empire in the making.

THE EXPRESS RIDERS dashed across the prairies and through the mountain passes from St. Joe, Missouri to Sacramento, California, carrying Lincoln's first Inaugural Message, in seven days and 10 hours. There were 80 riders and 190 stations crowded down the throat of the wilderness, 65 to 100 miles apart.

"BUFFALO BILL" CODY
"Most Famous of All"

The Pony Express employed 500 of the fastest horses that could be found, lightning-fast thoroughbreds, many of them, from the Kentucky Bluegrass. The riders were picked men, made of steel and whipcord.

The most famous of all of them was William F. Cody, Buffalo Bill, who set a record that was never approached.

Years ago, when this speaker used to see Colonel Cody riding into the arena of Madison Square Garden on his great golden horse, the old Indian fighter sitting as straight as an arrow for all of his seventy-odd years, his white hair tumbling to his shoulders and his snow-white mustache and goatee, I thought, not so much of the single-handed duel he had with Yellow Hand, the Cheyenne chief, as of the day he rode the Pony Express, 384 miles, without one stop except to change horses and swallow one hasty meal.

IT WAS the proud boast of the Pony Express that it rode through an inferno of peril every day in the year and lost but one mail. There was another time when the flying horseman was ambushed by Indians and scalped, but the pony broke away and went galloping on to the next home station, wounded and bleeding, but with the mail pouch safe at the saddlehorn.

Back on the desert the rider suffered in his blood, but the mail was safe.

Girl About Town -:- by ANN MARSTERS

IN ALL this talk of chinchilla lately we feel that Boston has been grossly overlooked.

Harper's Bazaar you may have noticed, had a piece about "The most exclusive club in the world"—the Chinchilla Club—and named a few members. All you need to belong is a genuine chinchilla coat which is quite an acquisition.

LILY PONS was one of the Grand Duchess Anastasia's wealthy guests at Imperial Persian luncheon. Lily's coat as we read it had "the particular brand of animal and there'll never again be enough Imperial Persian chinchillas to make another coat." Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and Mary Pickford each has a coat of that fur.

"[illegible] in captivity" says the [illegible] "And a single skin is worth from $150 to $300. For a coat like Miss Pons', 150 skins are necessary."

Lupe Velez, Mrs. Jay O'Brien and Mrs. Stephen Sanford are also members of the Chinchilla Club.

ELIGIBLE FOR "WORLD'S MOST EXCLUSIVE CLUB?"
Debutante Hope Halsey's Chinchilla Looks Genuine

As for Boston, we have a certain pride in reporting that there are two chinchilla coats hereabout. One is owned by Mrs. James J. Phelan, of Brookline, and the other by Mrs. Robert Stevenson of Beacon street, Boston.

MRS. PHELAN tells us that they're quite a care, and the fur will turn yellow unless properly treated. Every so often she has her coat given a sand treatment.

There is a possible third chinchilla coat in Boston—but there has been some question raised as to its genuineness. Anyway, it looks like the real, precious thing, and belongs to young Hope Halsey, niece of the Alvan T. Fullers, who recently made her debut. (We were going to ask her about her chinchillas, but she's in Europe.)

Dixie's Problem -:- by HUGH S. JOHNSON

GEORGETOWN, S. C., March 3.

This is being written from a citadel of what the President has called the Southern Feudalists and a historical lady columnist has named the Southern Fascists. This is the original Secession State of South Carolina.

It is the State in which, more recently, Mr. Corcoran's purge, managed by Mr. Roosevelt, sought the political slaughter of Cotton Ed Smith and to tell these people what kind of extreme New Deal Senator they must send to Washington. Cotton Ed was elected.

THERE is no Feudalism in the South in the sense of a caste of rich and powerful Southern industrial or agricultural robber barons who control the countryside.

Southerners, even the most important in the economic fields, are dirt poor in comparison with similar classes in other sections.

It is utter and cruel nonsense to call them either Fascists or Feudalists in any such sense as that.

What is meant is that these New Deal strategists would like to enfranchise the Southern Negro to add to its Northern Negro bloc by buying his political support.

"COTTON ED" SMITH
Stays in Washington

Any examination of the prosperity of the average Southern farmer even when his land supports as many as 150 Negroes would explode the Feudalism charge. He barely exists himself. If all his profits were divided with his help it would not change their essential condition.

It is true that the South has an "Economic Problem No. 1."

It is the Negro problem. It is social and political as well as economic. The South is struggling with it and I think, slowly solving it. But it cannot be and is not going to be solved by social snoopers like Aubrey Williams and the WPA brood that went out with Harry Hopkins. It can't be solved by Corcoran purges or politics or by New Deal miracles.

THE TRUTH is a paradox. The New Deal has come to stand for practically everything the South has stood against since its beginning and against practically everything the South considers necessary for its security and salvation—State rights, local self-government, economy, individual freedom and unhampered representation.

FREDRIC MARCH NARRATES NEW CHINA FILM

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, March 3—GROVER WHALEN: Just before she flew back to the Coast, Sally Rand visited the Paradise cafe and offered to work there during the fair for $2500 a week . . . "$2500 a week" replied the startled proprietor, Nick Blair. "For $2500 a week I can hire 30 fan dancers" . . . Nicky paused, and added: "That gives me an idea." And so he's hiring 30 fan dancers!

• • •

GOV. LEHMAN: The State Board of Censors, which banned "Blackwell's Island" and then reconsidered, at first didn't believe that the prison conditions portrayed therein were accurate. The convincer was the discovery that David Marcus, Deputy Commissioner of Correction, was one of the co-authors of the movie—and has the records to attest to its accuracy . . . IL DUCE: Herb Matthews, the N. Y. Times correspondent who covered the Spanish war from the loyalist side, has returned to N. Y. He's refused all lecture offers. His next assignment may be to Rome . . . BROADWAY ASSOCIATION: Leon and Eddie visited Tony's, on the same block, for the first time in seven years this week. They went there to make a transatlantic phone call because the operator wouldn't take it from their booth.

Sally Rand

EQUITY: Jack Smart, now singing at the Monte Carlo here, is probably the richest entertainer in New York. His father owns almost half of Hawaii. This is Smart's first professional engagement . . . Jean Rodney, producer of the current hit, "Outward Bound," heard him sing and offered him a job in the leading role of a musical comedy she's producing . . . Oh, no, I can't take it," Smart explained. "I appreciate the opportunity—but I only sing for my own amusement."

• • •

SAM HARRIS: Fredric March, star of your show, "The American Way," is doing the narration for Iven's new documentary film about China, "Four Hundred Million" . . . LAZARO CARDENAS: Contrary to the statements of your border officials, Frank Kluckhohn, the Times correspondent you expelled from Mexico, has photostats of his immigration papers and customs receipts to prove that he entered the country legally.

• • •

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT: Luis Quintanilla who came from Spain to present you with those rare Goya etchings and to paint the frescoes for the Spanish Pavilion of the World's Fair, has accomplished one other achievement during his visit . . . In Madrid he once went to the American Embassy to do a portrait of Claude Bowers. There he saw Janet Spaeth, Bowers' assistant. He never saw her again until last month. And so a few days ago, in a setting not unlike the bomb shelter to which Quintanilla was accustomed, they were reunited in a Greenwich garage.

By GEORGE HOLLAND

EXCLUSIVE. For the first time since Terry Mayer assumed responsibility for its operation four years ago, the Bradford Penthouse will suspend business on midsummer . . . The famous Boston nightclub landmark will close tomorrow night . . . No dates are offered.

Mr. Mayer does not say that the close is being necessary for "renovations" or to "ready a new show," or for any reason kindred . . . One of the veterans among the younger showmen, Mr. Mayer comes right to the point: Business is poor.

But he does advance the theory that Boston's early hour curfew and the "high price of everything" mitigates against the prosperous operation of any Boston night club. He takes care, too, to absolve Mickey Alpert and the really swell orchestra Mickey has assembled from any blame for the early closing . . . As a matter of fact, since the curly-haired Boston boy took over the musical direction a week ago Tuesday, business has been better than for any similar period this season. But it isn't enough.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Nat Madison, co-author of "Cabin of Dreams," has written a new song entitled, "You're Amazing," and the publishers have agreed to carry a printed dedicatory line reading: "To Dorothy" . . . The "Dorothy" is Dolly Johnson, the Boston theatrical press-agent whose energy and ability has always been exactly what the song's title expresses . . . Dorothy Tanner, the local vocalist, is singing at the Walton Lee in Philadelphia . . .

There may be a magazine story in the lives and romances of Earl Kane, the maestro and four of his combo . . . The Kane band is decidedly on the upbeat in popularity by reason of its recent prominence over the airwaves, in weekly programs originating from Washington. But imagine this: Kane and three of his boys are all married to former Arlene schoolteachers. All four ceremonies were performed from friendships which sprang up when the orchestra was playing at Arlene's hotel's dining room. . . . After the band's Boston date in April, the quartet of newlywed couples should make an interesting feature story.

LEE DIXON flew to Boston last night, arriving at midnight at the Cocoanut Grove to confer with Barnett Welansky, proprietor of the Grove . . . But Barney had gone to New York earlier in the day—to commune with Mr. Dixon . . . Lee returns to the Grove, his old stamping (or stomping) ground next Monday night for an indefinite engagement as master-of-ceremony, stager, music writer, song and danceman . . . It was from an engagement at the Grove that he landed in Hollywood as a contract player with Warner Bros. . . . That was three years ago . . .

Dixon has written a tune called, "Ma Pal Cupid," which Feist will publish and which will be played for the first time Monday night when Henry Kalis (the item in yesterday's column about Kalis succeeding Jacques Renard at the Grove has been confirmed) and his orchestra begin work . . .

Orson Welles and another actor with a beard supped at the Grove after the performance of "Five Kings" . . . Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lewis will entertain a few friends at the Brown Derby tomorrow night. It's be coincidence of their sixth anniversary.

Dorchester Beauty Chosen 'Peg Maleon'

Pete is producing. It's now the major business. How to find pretty girls in Boston's jail waiting to play the counterpart of the heroine of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

He has very definite ideas about this ideal girl. She should be between 5 feet 2 and 5 feet 6 in height, be over 18 and should weigh between 100 and 115 pounds. She should have a fine figure with developed arms. Proportioned feet most of all she should have charm.

"That's the thing," he says, gesturing with the pipe again, "charm . . .

"It's intangible. It's something of the spirit. A girl can be entrancingly beautiful and still not have it. Now Bette Davis has it—"

He arises from the table brushes the crumbs from his lap, and reaches for his overcoat and friendly old brown hat. . . . So began the search which went on for three days—and all because "Pygmalion," the picture is coming to the State and Orpheum theaters next week. The editor wanted to find a Boston girl to give her opportunities which may become an incentive for every Boston g to make herself more charming.

That first day it was raining. The little searching party invaded great stores, walked the lengths of bright aisles, gazing at the girls behind the counters, careful not to offend by staring too boldly. . . . There was the little red head in the teal blue sweater, who seemed so lovely until she turned to walk away, and heavy ankles betrayed her.

There was the store manager who found [illegible]

IT WAS SWELL!—Muriel Collins, has tea tete-a tete with her mother and joyfully related how she was picked to play Boston's own Peg Maleon.

What happened during the first day of Muriel's dream-like adventure as "Peg Maleon" will be told in tomorrow's issue of the Evening American.

the ravishing loveliness of the blonde who was outside luncheon but who, when she returned [illegible] round, blank face and baby blue eyes peering out so dumbly . . . And there was the statuesque brunette, who laughed shortly, and said:

"If you choose me what will my 13-year-old daughter say?"

She did look so young, so beautiful.

And so the search went on for the whole of a second day, and a part of the third, nor did Woodward renege for the slightest fraction of a second. Seldom [illegible] such great hearted co[illegible] Crimp one or important [illegible] of a sudden there she was.

The search stopped [illegible] was found [illegible] when first they set eyes [illegible] the eyes of the Subject [illegible] in Summer street. Boys [illegible] listened, and followed. We [illegible] across and were just [illegible] some [illegible] we were [illegible]

HER NAME IS MURIEL

[illegible] communicated to her.

"Oh," she said, and then—

"I—I don't believe it"—and she almost fainted dead away. Recovering, she told her story.

[illegible] at the top of a 3-story walk-up Grandmother Casheen [illegible]

"It's his eyes," she says simply. [illegible]

Here's Quick Relief for RASPY COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

FIRST—put a small lump of Vicks VapoRub in your throat and let it melt. The medication bathes the sore, inflamed tissues, while soothing vapors relieve tickling irritation and tightness. Breathe them right where you want it—when you want it.

THEN melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Breathe in the vapors for a few minutes. As these vapors work their way down through the air passages, they loosen phlegm and ease the cough.

HERMIT ROMEO HUNTS ADVENTURE

What Has Happened:

GLORIA NEWCOMBE, beautiful Hollywood actress, the subject of a romance gossip between a Russian prince and a Boston banker, has left the scenes of Northland.

Seeking to capture anything worth while, Alaska's great open spaces offer Gloria possibility for her determination to have nothing to do with it. She leaves all she owns. The snow mountains of Alaska beckon her all.

Mr. Wilbur Berry, her agent, arranges to have the actress met and taken by a guide to the cabin of Steve Greene.

The cabin proves to be that of a young bachelor who has made his home in the wilderness. He is known as SAMOVAR.

Mr. Berry arrives to find Gloria gone. He is met by Mr. O'Brien, Steve Greene's friend. Mr. O'Brien is a prospector. Soon they are joined by Mr. Schultz, another prospector.

They all start for Steve Greene's cabin.

Now Continue:

CHAPTER FIVE

STREAMLINED ADVENTURE! Steve Greene, his Twentieth Century home-on-wheels ready for the open road, boasts he has found real happiness. There will be no women in his Paradise!

THE CASE AGAINST JACK O'NEIL

The story of the murder of Hattie McCloud in which the town drunkard was hanged, back in 1897, and the story of the controversy over his guilt—something which has never ended in Western Massachusetts.

A CALL TO AMERICAN BACHELORS!

Too many fortunes of our American heiresses have gone overseas to royalty. Now two more wise ones will be in circulation soon and the hunt will be on. What will happen when Gloria Vanderbilt and Beenie Frazier arrive in the marriage spotlight.

Free Art Course
Copy this girl and send us your drawing — perhaps you'll win a COMPLETE FEDERAL COURSE FREE! This contest is for amateurs so if you like to draw do not hesitate to enter.
Prizes for Five Best Drawings — FIVE COMPLETE ART COURSES FREE, including drawing outfits. (Value of each course, $215.00.)
FREE! Each contestant whose drawing shows sufficient merit will receive a reading and advice as to whether he or she has, in our estimation, artistic talent worth developing.
Today design, color and illustrating influence the sale of most merchandise. Trained commercial artists have, therefore, become important in industry. They are in demand, — well paid — machines can never displace them. Artistic talent is comparatively scarce. If you can draw, why waste this rare gift? Train yourself to do work for which nature has fitted you and which few people can do. Success nowadays comes easier to those who develop natural ability. We have trained many young men and women now capable of earning up to $5,000 yearly as artists. Use this opportunity to test your talent. Read the rules and send us your drawing.
RULES: This contest open only to amateurs, 16 years old or more. Professional commercial artists and Federal students are not eligible. 1. Make drawing of girl's head, 6 inches high, on paper 9 inches high. Draw only the girl, no lettering. 2. Use only pencil or pen. 3. Write your name, address (including county and state), age, occupation on back of drawing. 4. All drawings must be received by March 31st, 1939. Prizes will be awarded for drawings best in proportion and neatness by Federal Schools Faculty.

Smart Set Fashions

By ANNICE BRINK

NO MATTER how blithely you chase fashion's most fickle fancies . . . no matter how you butterfly around with your clothes . . . buying first one dizzy hat and then another, and topping off with still crazier gloves or shoes . . . you have to come down to earth some time or other.

Then you admit that there's nothing quite so gratifying for either you or your wardrobe as some classic style.

Take the topcoat we illustrate today. It's hearty brand-and-butter item of your wardrobe. In general, it reminds us of a Scotch tweed topcoat we bought five years ago, a coat which is smarter today than it was when we bought it! Yes, sirree! The lines are good, the broad shoulders, the comfortable open pockets and easy swing.

Of the material, a thick diagonal knit, and the fact that it is not overly expensive, more or less, we will speak later.

FOR KNITTING directions, simply write Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, Boston Evening American, and inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HAVE THIS smartly casual diagonal knit topcoat ready to throw on when you take your first real spring walk along lanes that are overhung with filaments of dainty yellow green not yet turned to robust young leaves . . . knit it yourself! See Annice Brink's story above.

Doctors Let Girl Die, Says Mother

[illegible]

"My little girl took sick Sunday night and I called a doctor," she said.

"This doctor said the child had a slight cold, but in a few hours her temperature rose to 104 degrees.

"I called another doctor at midnight and he referred me to still a third one. He kept promising to come in a few minutes but did not show up by two o'clock.

"Then called a fourth doctor, one I trusted."

He said: 'Go to bed and cool off.' Give the kid an aspirin.'

GETS AID TOO LATE

So I called another doctor, who came and found my child was very sick and said she must go to a hospital. She was taken to the Whidden Memorial Hospital in the morning, but it was too late.

She never had a chance by that time.

[illegible]

We went the limit for that child," he said. "Four doctors examined her in the first 12 hours she was sick.

"The first doctor was entirely competent. She died of a fulminating type of influenza pneumonia which often strikes quickly.

"We appreciate the generosity of the Boston Evening American in insisting that oxygen [illegible] to the hospital but we feel it would have been useless."

[illegible]

WILL SEEK ALL FACTS

"From an impartial but as yet incomplete investigation, Silverstein said "I have found no indications of negligence or indifference on the part of the doctors.

"However, I have not yet heard Mrs. Dunton's side and we expect to get the full truth tonight."

DEAD MAN'S PAL ADMITS HOLDUPS

Captured in a police chase which brought the death of his companion, Rudolf D'Amico, 32, of Union Park, South End, stood in a police lineup today and admitted more than a dozen holdups in Chinese laundries.

And when one of a dozen Chinese victims identified D'Amico the swarthy former state prison convict lowered his head and confessed. Then, at the request of Detective Sergt. Henry H. O'Leary of Athens street station, Boston police, O'Leary, whom D'Amico named in a statement as his pal, was sent for the big [illegible] Others Richard Hourihan son of Warden Hourihan of Walpole prison, and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

BRADSHAW

Express Service Began in Boston

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

One hundred years ago tomorrow express service in the United States began in Boston . . . William Harnden founded the business that the Railway Express Agency carries on today . .

The contrast between present day speedy efficient methods and the modest start made by Harnden provides one of the most vigas of American progress . . Where the Agency's scope today is nation wide, Harnden was restricted to three weekly round trips to New York City . . . Where all the times' delivery and transportation methods are now used there was in the beginning nothing but a carpet bag . . For was such a humble vehicle in the hands of William Harnden that housed the first express shipments in the United States.

ACHIEVEMENT . . . That is the proper description of Eastern Mass. Street Railways current condition . . . From both a financial and operating standpoint . . . "The income statement for January and new Treasurer E. D. Crowley is loud spoken proof of what has been accomplished . Behind the profit figures shown lie years of careful change and rehabilitation . . . Literal transformation in the type of transportation service to another . . . Trolleys to busses . . During January a nice mixture of plus and minus signs marked the company to make a comparative showing . Earlier on this article is commented current results of the road are with a bit of caution but forecasts and hopes of improvement . . . And a favorable attitude toward Eastern's securities is still warranted . . .

MARKET ACTION . . . A bit more hesitant than we had expected . . . Technical conditions, if still somewhat restricted, are improving steadily . . . In the following sessions some upside leaders have appeared . . . But these must be supplemented in the event of a further push to new 1939 highs . . . What's left of the market's resistance . . As individual stocks have moved ahead they have become vulnerable to profit taking . . . Improvement in trading volume is necessary to support better levels . . . Investors buying should be alert to the leading stocks of industry's groups . . .

GOOD CUSTOMER . . . On March 2nd Lawrence C. Meier was promoted to charge of American Telephone's long lines department . . . A long and cordial business association with Paine, Webber & Co. as brokerage house . . His letter of appreciation to Burr Gannett & Co. revealed confirmation of 50 years of continuous patronage of one customer . . . Meier service was originally established by Parkman & Burr in March 1, 1882 and the present successor firm has maintained the private wire between Boston and New York offices . . .

NOTEBOOK . . . General Electric provides an opportunity to buy "on the way up" note . . . A new product . . . We hear it has started production on a small instrument upon made of plastic . . . Tires and tires are said to be formed in one operation whereas conventional products require two operations . . . Costs are reported one third less . . . And it will not be necessary to paint windows and frames soon materialize . . . Patents have just been applied for . . . A subsidiary of Detroit Steel Products is said to be interested . . .

Georgia Develops New Farm Trend

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

ATLANTA Ga., March 3 (INS)—Southern farmers have long been admonished by solons at Washington to adjust themselves to international realities and cut down their production of cotton.

Planters, however, have not been so quick in suggesting alternate activities for agrarians released from the cotton planting and picking treadmill.

However, the financial, educational and industrial leaders of Georgia are now in the need for rebuilding and increasing farm income through additional new crops.

As a well-known, the late Dr. Charles H. Herty pioneered in proposing that cotton be supplemented by the cultivation of slash pine as a source of domestic wood pulp.

W. Harry Vaughan, director of the state engineering experiment station, and his associates are making a broad examination into other projects designed to enhance the wealth and income of the people of Georgia.

Many Georgia bankers and industrialists working in harmony with farmers and educators, are making quiet progress toward expanding and improving the livestock industry of the state. Recently an experimental herd of sheep was introduced into the North Georgia mountains, and in all sections of the state men are organizing to add livestock to the typical farms.

Since 1932 the greatest improvement in farm income in Georgia has resulted from livestock. In five years the income from livestock was doubled. Georgia cotton acreage last year was only one-half that of two decades ago. Meantime, Georgia industry has begun to produce nearly three times the annual income of the Georgia farms.

Stocks Score Good Gains in Quiet Trading

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—An orderly recovery move put leading industrials and rails up fractions to more than a point in today's stock market. Volume dwindled after a fairly active opening.

There was another assortment of new highs for the past year, including International Harvester, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, Greyhound and United Fruit.

Prominent on the advance were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Glenn Martin, Santa Fe, Great Northern, N. Y. Central, Westinghouse, U. S. Gypsum, Phelps Dodge and Consolidated Edison.

Higher prices for American securities helped to support the dollar in foreign exchange dealings here, brokers said. Domestic business news, at the same time, was interpreted as encouraging. Interest in foreign affairs apparently was small.

Denies U.S. Fund Used For Foreign Purchases

WASHINGTON, March 3 (INS)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today denied that the stabilization fund was used to purchase foreign currencies of countries in the recent upheaval in the market for federal bonds.

BUSINESS CHIEFS SEE SPRING BOOM

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 3 — Wishful thinking or optimistic guessing will not ring the cash register of business, but business leaders scanning the orders and prospects books of their own companies, generally agree that "this is the spring we have been waiting for."

The exceptions are from sections of the country where unusual conditions have recently prevailed.

The textile industry was drifted away from eastern Connecticut, factories are idle and towns burdened with high relief costs. Mass chusetts wool and cotton manufacturers still are jittery about the reciprocal trade treaty with Great Britain. Grain prices are low in Missouri and drought in the agricultural districts directly affects many other businesses.

Rural areas of the southeast are under cotton production pressure and the last sales of burley tobacco were down a dollar a hundred. Tobacco inventories are higher.

Nevertheless, business leaders are unusually optimistic.

"In the rubber industry, I believe that we can expect business in the spring to be very much ahead of a year ago and probably above normal if we have an early and seasonable spring," said William O'Neil, president, General Tire & Rubber Company.

W. J. Filbert, president of Ohio Confectionary and Midland Steel Products Company, said business is now moving forward until we are out of some of the problems with which it is faced as government policy toward business and capital comes into line.

Irving Jonassen, president of Minneapolis Moline Company, said:

"Business will be better in 1939 in a gradual way. I think the general volume of all business might run 15 per cent ahead of 1938."

H. J. Hall, general sales manager Sears Roebuck & Co., stated:

"A 10 to 15 per cent increase in the company's business is expected. Buyers markets are moving a bit faster."

George J. Stanley, vice president and general manager Aluminum Company of America said the realization in every section heads toward a good spring.

EARNINGS

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—General Electric Co. in a preliminary report for 1938 today showed net income of $27,729,000, equal to 96 cents a share of capital share, compared with $63,544,762, or $2.21 a share, in 1937.

Directors ordered a dividend of 75 cents a share on capital stock, payable April 25 to holders of record March 17. Bookings for the first two months of this year increased 25 per cent to $51,800,000 from $41,500,000 in the same period last year.

American Locomotive Co. reported net loss for 1938 of $1,197,-193 compared with net profit of $6,113,214, or $4.75 a common share, in 1937. At the end of 1938 the company had unfilled orders totaling $6,700,000 compared with $10,500,000 at the end of 1937.

Barnsdall Oil Co., with oil wells in various states, reported a net profit for 1938 of $2,837,897, or $1.96 a share, compared with $1,803,870, or 44 cents a share, in 1937.

Lerner Stores Corp. operating chain stores throughout the nation issued a preliminary report for the fiscal year ended January 31, showing net profit of $1,299,-232, or $2.89 a common share, compared with $2,903,6166, or $4.65 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

Austen Lake:

WUXTREE! FEENEY DECISION ON TRACK

A FINE, BUT FUTILE, TRIUMPH of principle has been gained in the Cambridge District Court where Judge Louis L. Green has handed down an execution order to citizen John Feeney, requiring Dighton's dog track to pay him back "breakage." Mr. Feeney sued the track for 10c last May at the approximate cost of $100 in legal fees. He won! Or did he?

AUSTEN LAKE

Judge Green's decision seems to contradict a 1938 decision given by Superior Court Judge Francis J. Good last S[illegible]; Judge Good certified "breakage" on the dime as legal, according to the 1934 parimutuel law which reads, "One-half of the odd cents over any multiple of 10 cents, otherwise payable to the patron wagering, shall be retained by the licensee (track) and one-half shall be paid to the commission (state) on the day following each day of horse or dog racing."

Judges Green and Good ruled variously according to the ambiguities of the law!

What's this all about?

Why, it's about several million dollars which the Massachusetts tracks and state skims from the long-suffering gambling public, which morally, if not legally, belongs to the bettors.

TO MAKE THE TERM "BREAKAGE" as painfully clear as possible to anyone unfamiliar with race [illegible] suppose a man wins a $2 wager on a horse or dog and [illegible] cash his ticket. Meanwhile the track auditor has come, [illegible] a minutes, at [illegible] $2.09 for each dollar bet. On [illegible] the lucky wagerer receives $4.18 for his $2 ticket or, according to race [illegible] "breakage on the dime." Refer again to that portion of [illegible] which reads "the odd cents over any multiple of 10 cents."

Is that correct?

No! Not the way Massachusetts does it.

What does the man get? He receives a total of $4.10 and the 18 odd pennies are retained by the track auditor to be apportioned up between state and licensee." And that's the beauty spot in the law. It neglects to stipulate whether "breakage" should be figured on units of $1 or $2 or $5. It just reads "odd cents over any multiple of 10." So with this (ahem) arrangement [illegible] on $2 and the larger the sum wagered the greater the [illegible]

For Massachusetts race patrons [illegible] —(Warner 3. One who has the right of [illegible] realize how important "breakage" [illegible] In the present psychology of the [illegible] Massachusetts. The [illegible] bettor alone [illegible] for [illegible]

BUT LET'S SEE WHAT "BREAKAGE" has cost Massachusetts horse and dog gamblers, between 1934, the year of legalization and November, 1937, the date of the race commission's last report. From all tracks "breakage" alone has totaled $1,441,940.42—nearly two millions according to official figures, not including 1938.

Is that prune-pits?

More specifically "breakage" spoils have been divided thus:

A police alarm was sounded, and the building was presently surrounded by armed officers. After I had phoned my friend the under-sheriff, it developed that the men at the door had trailed my car, thinking it was stolen because the license name and the name under which I was living did not agree.

"Maybe it would be better if I went to New York and stayed until everything is cleared up here."

"Could you leave me, Norman?" she cried.

CAUGHT BY POLICE

When the police began to arrive I went outside and leaped on the running board of a car. The man at the wheel started pounding me over the head with the starting crank, and I reached for my gun, which was stuck in the waistband of my trousers.

Just then a shot whined down my leg to the concrete board and fell to the street. I jumped off the car, groping for my gun. A mob had formed, and I faced policemen. Someone kicked the gun out of my reach, and I was taken in charge by a swarm of officers.

The final recollection I have of anything after Theresa's death, is of sitting in our apartment, being questioned by detectives. I saw a

McCoy Now Ready For Top Heavies

Ray Arcell Picks Al Over Pastor

BILL BRENNAN permitted me to read a confidential letter he received from Ray Arcell who is training Al McCoy at Lou Stillman's Gym in New York for the New England champion's ten-round bout with Bob Pastor at the Garden on next Friday night.

I was interested in the letter in view of the fact Arcell is one of the best judges of boxing in the United States. Brennan told me I could publish the letter. Here it is:

"Al is working like a beaver, and his boxing is fine. It seems McCoy has really started to find himself again and means business. He has shown so much improvement in the last couple of months, and the best part of it is that he is always striving to do better.

"Training in Stillman's Gym is really an incentive. Al sees and becomes acquainted with all the big 'name' fighters that he reads about and after watching them perform not only in the gym but in actual combat, he realizes he is as good, if not better, than any of them.

"With Al improving from day to day, he is certain to get the consideration to which he is entitled. I doubt very much if any of the so-called heavyweight contenders can defeat Al.

McCoy Has Been Active Training

"McCOY HAS had plenty of boxing since the Knox fight. He has worked with all types and styles. For the last couple of days he has boxed with Francis Jacques, a young Frenchman who Jeff Dickson named as the best heavyweight in Europe. If Jacques is really the champion of Europe, Al has taken that title from him in the last few days.

"We intend leaving for Boston on Sunday afternoon, and will finish the training grind there. I shall bring Billy Pavlovich to Boston and he will work with Al.

"Pastor has seen Al training, and realizes that this time it will be a different McCoy he will have to cope with. Pastor has been working hard. Jimmy Johnston has been in the gym each day to keep check on Bob's training. Jimmy believes Pastor is the only heavyweight who has a chance to beat Joe Louis.

"After watching McCoy prepare himself for this match, I cannot see how anybody can pick Pastor to defeat him. There is no heavyweight around who has as much class as Al."

When McCoy last fought Pastor, he had been out of action for five months. His timing was poor, while he tired in the last two rounds.

Constant boxing against first class opponents has put McCoy on edge again. He looked like his old self in his recent victory over Knox, and if he can also conquer Pastor he will be in line for bigger things in the boxing game.

Tony Ferry Back in Ring Action

TONY FERRY of Fall River, who defeated Johnny Shkor of Baltimore in a stirring bout in the final in the heavyweight class of the Hearst All-America tourney, will be back in action at the Arena on next Monday night. Ferry injured his left foot and his right hand a few days before the finals of the Hearst All-America tournament in Detroit, but insisted on going through with his matches.

Monday night's tournament will be the last opportunity amateur boxers will have to compete for the right to enter the New England finals that will be conducted at the Arena on March 13. The bouts held so far have been replete with action, and Tom Kanaly says the large entry list for the final tryout tournament indicates some interesting battles.

Random Shots at Target

DAN CARROLL was with Mike Jacobs and Muggsy Taylor in Miami, Fla., when the deal was closed for the 15-round world's heavyweight championship battle between Joe Louis and Tony Galento . . . Dan says Jacobs was obliged to give Taylor an interest in the show in order to land Galento's services . . . Taylor had originally planned the title bout for Philadelphia.

The World's Fair crowd will help to make the Louis-Galento bout a profitable venture . . . On form, Louis looks like a cinch to win in two or three rounds . . . Curiosity to see Galento will cause thousands of people to pay top prices to witness the tussle . . . The tussle keeps Joe Jacobs in the big money . . . Joe managed Mike McTigue, Jack Delaney, Andre Routis, Max Schmeling and other big money makers . . . Jacobs is a natural ballyhoo artist, and has done most of the effective work in building Galento into a tremendous box office attraction.

Fitchburg Bowlers Will Try

By WALTER KILEY

Johnny Tagg, that hustlin' bustlin' man of action of the Fitchburg bowling wheel, informs us that the western city is laying large plans for the mammoth Boston Evening American-Daily Record candlepin bowling championships.

Johnny, "Little Napoleon" of the candlepins, a bowling alley proprietor who can step in and hold his own with any of the top notchers in the sport, says that he'll bring to Huntington Club a party of more than a hundred of Fitchburg's fairest pin crashers.

In other years Tagg has had to hire large buses to transport his wrecking crew to the scene of maple combat and this year the buses will, evidently, have to be bigger and more of them to accommodate the contestants.

Every section of New England reports greater interest than ever in the American-Record tourney, the big event of the season, one which will resound throughout Jack Stafford's huge emporium on Huntington avenue, from Saturday, March 25th through Saturday, April 8th.

GANGI ENTERS

Mike Gangi of Lynn has scores of Lynn entries already lined up for "Lynn Day".

Joe Hynes of Summer Street's Twentieth Century Alleys and the Queen City Alleys of Manchester, N. H., finds several new leagues interested in identifying themselves with this annual classic.

Hynes, when he says that entries will be bigger than ever this year, knows whereof he speaks.

For it was he who launched the first annual tourney.

Last year's inauguration of an "open" division for the expert bowlers, segregating them from the average fan who rolls for the fun and sport, and not so much for the high scoring, worked out so well that the system will be tried out again.

The "open" bowlers will compete entirely for cash prizes, every cent of the entry fees being returnable in cash.

TO BOWL FIVE STRINGS

The men's "open" singles bowlers will do all their rolling on the final night, Saturday, April 8th, and on an elimination basis. They will bowl a qualifying five strings, those surviving bowling another five strings and so on until the new "open" champion has been decided.

In all other "open" divisions, including the women's singles, the competition will be on a straight five strings total basis, with the exception of the "open" teams, both men's and women's, which will go through a three stringe route.

Cravat, Stagehand, Wilson's Choices

By DAVE WILSON

MIAMI, Fla., March 3 — Pin your bankroll on the two-horse parlay of Townsend B. Martin's Cravat in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap and Col. Maxwell Howard's Stagehand in the $50,000 Widener Cup race as California and Florida vie for the headlines with their extra special turf classics on Saturday.

10—Declared off.
Weather, clear; track, fast.

While the race here appears a cinch for Stagehand, if the track stays fast, the only news we hear from California down here is the bad news such as, "three feet of snow on Wilshire Boulevard."

Cravat prepped for the California gallop here, engaged in a tune-up race upon arrival in the foothills of the Sierras, and on Saturday will be a Hawkins horse in that event.

The Santa Anita race will be loaded with speedsters which should be tailor-made for a come-from-behind specialist like Cravat. Never in the history of that mile and a quarter test has a horse got out front and stayed there.

STOUT TO PILOT HOUSE

Here in Miami, Jimmy Stout will take his miner's lamp down off the hook at the head of the stretch, peer through the smoke from the everglades fires which has been blanketing Miami's famed sun, and set sail for the pace setters like the famed runaway train.

Cravat's my choice, rain, shine, hell or high water.

With Stagehand, if so much as an eye dropper of liquid hits this track, forget about him and concentrate your efforts to win a bet on Mrs. Plunkett Stewart's Pasteurized. He looks like the best of a poor lot of mudders.

As for contention, Calumet Farms Bull Lea, who gave Stagehand an argument until the last jump of the McLennan Memorial, has the best chance of staying in front of last year's Santa Anita winner. Pasteurized figures close up, especially with Sir Damion cutting out a sharp early pace. The latter may hold on to be fourth.

WHICHEE HAS CHANCE

On the Coast, the race is strictly a toss-up. Perhaps it will prove whether or not Kayak II from South America is as good as they say he is or just another sprinter.

Whichee has an excellent effort behind him, but is another speedster and it is questionable whether or not he will remain in the front row until the final curtain.

These figures do not include insignificant returns from minor tracks at Marshfield, Fitchburg, Northampton, Sturbridge and Barrington. But tracks and state have each taken $895,520.21 (not including 1938) which in principle, if not in actual law, belong to the betting public. Thus, instead of just 10 per cent from the horse track and 15 per cent from the dog track working against the customer's capital, an additional leverage of 4.5 comes out of each dollar every time it is run through the wringer. And money doesn't have to pass through the parimutuel mill very often at that rate before being gobbled up, leaving the original owner busted and forcing him to dig up fresh funds. Hey wot?

Verdict Creates no Law

SO MR. JOHN FEENEY OF CAMBRIDGE sued Dighton on the theory that there is no logical reason why bettors should not get their winnings to the last penny, or at least to the nearest dime. The track and state get theirs to the final farthing—with something over. So if this is a law, said Mr. Feeney to himself, let's change the law. But did he? He did not! The only thing he got was an individual execution which is in no sense a legal precedent for future suits. And if other bettors want to recover they, in turn, have got to sue and pay the heavy legal costs.

There are only two excuses for "breakage," beyond the fact that race-custom calls for milking the public cow until its udders crack, (1) the tracks bleat that payoffs to the penny create delay and confusion at the windows, (2) at least two racks claim they cannot exists without the added revenue.

No. 2 is no reason at all. No. 1 is a pure dodge. For any cashier can count nickels and pennies as swiftly as dimes, quarters and halves. Cafeteria cashiers have been doing it daily with longer queues than ever lined up at the race wicket. And there is no record of lunch room jams or girl change-makers flopping from nervous exhaustion for having to cash lunch checks to the exact cent. They even have time for a cheerful "thank you" to each no-longer hungry customer.

But the race cashiers never say "Thank you." The race tracks are always hungry.

Amesbury Ice Sextet In Tourney

One of the real dark horses for the championship honors in the N. E. A. A. U. hockey tourney to be held March 10, 13 and 14 at the Boston Arena, will be the strong Amesbury Maple Leafs, reputed to be the oldest amateur ice organization in this section.

The Maple Leafs have enjoyed their most successful campaign in years this winter. In 17 games this season, the Amesbury puck-chasers finished on the long end of the count 16 times. The only loss was sustained against the Manchester, N. H. Hockey Club.

Besides Amesbury the other Essex County League representatives will be the Peabody Town Team which finished in the runner-up slot behind the Maple Leafs.

The entries of Amesbury and Peabody raise the total of teams selected for the championship competition to four. Tuesday the two Industrial League representatives, Y. M. C. A. Club and Hyde Shoe, were approved by the tournament committee.

Harmeson Named Lehigh Grid Coach

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 3 (AP)—Appointment of head football coach, Glen W. Harmeson as director of athletics at Lehigh University was announced today by President C. C. Williams.

Harmeson, appointed for five years beginning Sept. 1, succeeds Col. Nelson A. Kellogg, who resigned Feb. 17 because of ill health. Harmeson will be ranked as full professor and will continue to coach football.

BILL'S SPORT-O-GRIMES

Hockey Magnates Ponder on Sites | Bruins Have First Choice for Playoff

On Wednesday next, the Board of Governors of the National Hockey League will convene in New York for the purpose of arranging sites and dates for the coming playoffs, which will be climaxed by the Stanley Cup series.

Due to the fact that the Ringling Brothers' circus has a contract with Madison Square Gardens, the Rangers and Americans must be out of the 8th avenue ice palace not later than the first week in April. The circus will leave camp at Sarasota, Fla., on April 1 and go directly to New York.

Because they will finish in first place, the Bruins have the choice of the ice for the first, second, fifth and seventh games of the series with the Rangers. And, if the Americans retain third position in the standings, they will have the choice for the first and third games of the Maple Leaf series.

In the event that Art Ross elects to play at home for the first and second games and Red Dutton exercises his rights and picks New York for the first and third game of the series, all that is left for Lester Patrick is the Boston Garden.

However, it's very likely that Art Ross will agree to open in New York, providing that the Rangers will offset his concession by playing three straight games in Boston, which might prove a very wise move. But, as Americans and Toronto will play on the same nights that the Bruins and Rangers are in action, it's still difficult to see how the Duttonmen will be able to get in two home games.

Back in the spring of 1932, the circus ran the Rangers and the Maple Leafs out of Madison Square Gardens and the second game of that Stanley Cup series was played here at the Boston Garden.

Just what arrangements the N. H. L. will make in case the Rangers and Americans should go through the Stanley Cup series is one of the problems that the Board of Governors will take under consideration on Wednesday next in New York.

Since the Bund meeting, Madison Square Gardens hasn't been in good standing with its sports public and if the Rangers and Americans do not play their full quota of home games during the coming playoffs, hockey will be the loser.

Connie Smythe seldom overlooks a bet . . . With the N. H. L. playoffs three weeks away, Smythe comes out with a declaration that Calder's referees are under-paid . . . The Florida Hockey League has folded . . . The promoters couldn't get the cash customers in the rinks nor the fog out . . .

Bobby Burns, who played in the Belmont $12,000 International open match play championship a year ago last fall, and who was the medalist in the Quebec P. G. A. qualifying rounds for five straight years, has quit the Hampstead G. C. of Montreal to be the pro at the Weston G. C. in the suburbs of Toronto . . .

One week from Saturday Don Budge and Fred Perry will "show" at the Boston Garden . . . Pres. Bob Quinn will be in Bradenton when Jimmy Outlaw arrives . . . Outlaw is a fine ball player but he should show that he's a major leaguer before demanding more money than the Bees have offered him . . . which, incidentally, is more than he has ever received for playing ball . . . Mrs. Art Ross plans to take up golf seriously this coming season . . . She's worried over a slight robustness which has put in an appearance this winter . . .

A course of lessons from John Bernardi and a couple of trips around Charles River and Mrs. Ross will be back to her normal weight . . . Jean Montemarquette, who is 43 years of age and his two sons, Albert and Roger, have entered the Golden Gloves amateur boxing championships of the Quebec Branch of the A. A. U. of Canada . . .

Frank Craven has returned from a month's vacation at Miami . . . He's as brown as the proverbial berry and looks to be in the W. K. pink . . . On the other hand, Elmer Ward, with whom Craven flew South, is having a tough time shaking off the effects of a "flu" attack . . . Eddie Powers, Jr., son of the former Boston Tiger and Cubs manager, who is now handling Syracuse in the Intam League, is playing for the Ottawa Senators . . . Judging from the reports, young Powers is as tough as his father . . .

A few weeks ago, the Maple Leafs "ribbed" Harvey "Busher" Jackson because his brother Art had more points than he did . . . Apparently, "Busher" took the "ribbing" seriously for he immediately went out and did some of his old time scoring . . . He's now the best scorer in the Jackson family by three points . . .

The Quebec Aces, who won the Montreal Senior Group title a year ago, will be here next week . . . They will play the Olympics at the Arena one week from tomorrow night and the following night, they'll be at the Garden . . . What a soft job the Boston coaches have today . . . The late Fred J. O'Brien coached Boston Latin and Brighton High in 1911 . . . And, he also doubled up during a couple of more seasons . . .

Jimmy Strachan, former president of the Montreal Maroons, is in a serious condition . . . Jimmy was on the road to recovery but his condition took a turn for the worse and his Canadian friends are very much concerned . . . Bobby Bauer, Bill Cowley, Herbie Schmidt, Woody Dumart and Roy Conacher are well bunched in the latest individual N. H. L. standings . . . Bauer and Cowley are out in front with 25 points, but "Schmiddy," Woody and Roy are only one point away from them.

MISSION PICKED OVER DELASALLE

Closing the opening programs—paradoxical though it seems—Mission high school will be a strong favorite to answer the call in the semi-final round of the New England Catholic Basketball Tournament with a victory over De La-salle Academy, Newport, R. I., when the schoolboys clash at the Arena tonight.

In the initial game of the evening double-header, Holy Rosary high, Holyoke, meets St. Bernard's high, Fitchburg.

Defending champion Mission, with a record of 19 victories in 22 starts, will have three boys on the starting team who cracked through to the title last year. This trio helped no little in capturing the Catholic League title this year and with Tom Mulkern, Ivan Kelley and Wes Cosby set for this first in the elimination series, Coach Dick Driscoll has his hopes high of continuing through this stanza.

TOM MULKERN

DeLaSalle will be making its first start in this tournament. Recognized as Rhode Island state champion since 1924, the Newport club will prove no pop-over. Curt James and Jerry Donovan, all-star choices in the Eastern States Tourney last year, are sure to cause the Roxbury club plenty of trouble.

The two teams from the western section of the state appear to be fairly evenly balanced, as the butcher would say despite the thumb on the corner of the scales.

Coach John Clifford of Holyoke has developed a fine quintet from a scattering of material. The team made a stern threat for the Connecticut Valley Parochial League title but this bid fell short. Still, Coach Clifford feels that with Capt. Bill Early in top form, the Holy Rosary club looms as a dangerous opponent.
